

LUTON AT WEST HAM.

By their victory over Luton at Canning Town on Saturday, in the Southern League, West Ham United drew into the first half-dozen in the Southern League table, though their position is probably only a temporary one, as Tottenham are just behind them, and Spurs are only a point behind them, and have two matches in hand.

West Ham played a really fine game against the "Strawplaiters," and but for Roger Ord's admirable goalkeeping they would have won by more than two goals to none. Taylor and Corbett scored the goals for the winners. Luton's position in the League is now not a promising one, being exactly level with Kettering.—3 from the bottom.
