EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK

The Battle Eve "Duets."

To-day everybody that is anybody in the Cup is "living in hopes." Eight clubs, eighty-eight players, every official and director concerned, and half a million thick and thin supporters are at the moment packed full with hope. In fact to-day may be called the Cup's Cape of Good Hope stage, wherein those directly interested can sort of spy the goldfields just around the corner. But, more important still is the honour of it all. Eight potential Cup winners and all eager to go over the top, to do or die. For victory to-day means entry into the select circle, to be handed down to posterity as the 1933 Cup semi-finalists.

Football's Secret: "You Never Can Tell!"

We raise our hat to the players of to-day, for their spirit of enthusiasm. Each man, we feel sure, will be out to the very last ounce. Whoever fails (and some must fail) it won't be for the want of trying. The true sporting ideal is a fair field and no favour. No player will surely ask for more, and certainly no referee will give it, unless it be unwittingly. And yet, perhaps, at least one of to-day's engrossing ties may be decided by luck, fortune, or call it what you will. A slip here; a miskick there, or a ball suddenly curled in by a sudden gust of wind may decide the issue, to literally blow a team into the last four. Such things have happened and will again, worse luck!

A Pleasant Means Test.

Locally we are indeed being favoured in having Everton at home once more. The luck of the draw is a great public money saver in these hard times. No time off required; no expensive railway journeys, a fair guarantee of watching the game in comfort; thus it will be seen that a home "draw" means much to a club's followers, as well as to the team itself. The appearance of Luton Town also adds a spice of novelty too, for it means that Everton have had as Cup visitors members of all three divisions of "The League."

Kean, the Ex-Blade.

The majority of the Bedfordshire side are little known in these parts, but what we do know and feel is, that a team capable of removing Tottenham Hotspur must possess some considerable measure of merit and fighting ability. The Town's win at Halifax, too, was a clean cut affair, whilst we must not overlook the fact that in the "Competition Proper" Kean and Co. have not lost a single goal. We feel confident that to-day's match will be played in the right spirit. In his Bolton and Sheffield days Kean always appealed as the true type of sportsmen and his influence should not have been lost on his present confreres. Luton have been at St. Anne's for their "finishing touches," although we feel reasonably confident that Everton may be left to apply that "distinguishing mark" this afternoon. If Dean and Company can't beat Luton all we can say is, they don't deserve to reach the last four, much less Wembley.

JACK SHARP,

Chedgzoy's Sad Reminder.

The form shown against Leeds was very satisfying and something like it now should assuredly spell success. We were sorry to find Geldard meeting with a slight mishap against Derby. Fortunately latest news is that he is fit again. Nothing is worse than to play a man who isn't thoroughly sound in a Cup tie. Everton had their lesson in this respect at Brighton some ten years ago when their then brilliant right-winger, Sam Chedgzoy, took the field after being marked a doubtful starter, with the sad sequel that he developed a serious limp in the first few minutes, was "tailed off" long before the finish and Everton were beaten in the race by "three lengths," otherwise by 5 goals to 2.

Where "You Never Can Tell."

The three remaining ties of the day read extremely open. Derby v. Sunderland! Here are two powerful sides, physically and otherwise. We can well imagine the Baseball ground being packed both with humans and excitement. If Sunderland play as against the Villa they may well win. Yet those "Rams" are a sterling, strong side, alike in defence and attack. We fancy the County will be counted in to-night.

Then what of that pulsating meeting at Turf Moor, where they have been "snowed under" in a double sense this week? Burnley will fight as for their lives and a win over Manchester City would do them the world of good. West Ham have had a poor season, but might surprise even Birmingham. Yet we fancy the latter to escape defeat.

OUR VISITORS

Not Men of Straw.

There must be a fair measure of ability in a side that succeeds in winning a place into the Cup's "last eight": (as Luton Town have done) and we feel sure that Bedfordshire's brake men will be accorded a generous reception when they step forth to do battle with the giants of Goodison this afternoon. Moreover their distinction has been won after thrice being drawn away, whilst Luton's only home "draw" saw them whip a side like the Spurs—favourites for promotion.

Setting a Fashion.

The Luton club has a long, if not a greatly distinguished history, for it was formed as far back as 1885. Not only so, but it claims to have been the pioneer club of the South in regard to introducing professionalism into the game, beating the Arsenal by a short head in this respect. They joined the Southern League in 1894-95 but fell out two years later. In 1897 they gained promotion to "the" League's Second Division, finishing 8th, but two years later dropped to next to bottom and then went back to the Southern League.

Polly Perkins' Anfield Perch.

However when the League's Third Div. (South) was formed in 1920 they became members, but at the moment occupy a rather humble place on the table. As a club Luton have seldom had much money to burn and careful management has, perforce, been the keynote throughout. We recall that one of their most important deals was when in the Spring of 1899 they transferred goalkeeper Perkins to the Liverpool club, just after the Anfielders had surprisingly failed to reach the Cup final. Then we have Clark and Turner (Everton) in more recent days.

Seldom-Spreadeagled Hawkes.

Luton have always been a useful side but seldom possessed real stars: but then they have never the money to spend on expensive transfers. They however once managed to provide England with a "home-made" half back in an amateur named Bob Hawkes, a most enthusiastic worker.

BREEZY BRIEFS

By "THE GLEANER."

The Cup fever has become widespread, and none of the patients are likely to recover within the next hour or two.

Of course nauseous physic in the shape of goals against will doubtless prove effective in some instances.

All the same one or two results may be hard to swallow—bitter pills in fact.

Everton cannot grumble at having come out of the hat against the "hatters."

Luton for their part will find that Everton's Dunn is no misfit.

In fact Jimmy hopes to put the top-hat on the Southerner's prospects.

Four roads lead towards Wembley to-day.

The Cup's last four will probably include two former winners and two "also rans."

Burnley say they are by no means fearful in regard to their great tussle with the City.

Well, confidence is usually a big help when appearing before the footlights.

Hancock, so far is awfully pleased with his change of stable.

Some players are inclined to fret themselves when tied down to reserve team duty.

Tom Bromilow says he has never been so hard worked in his life.

He has been busy at it until the "small hours" posting away tickets.

It's only a blizzard that doesn't blow anybody a bit of good.

Manchester City have been in a bit of a quandary whether to play McMullan or Herd at inside left.

Or again Marshall or Herd at inside right.

McMullan hasn't had a goal for over a year, but like James he's a great general.

What people are asking—what has happened to the former International form of Everton's two Scottish "Macs"—McGourty and McPherson?

A broth of a bhoy—Cook.

EVERTON JOTTINGS

By "BLUE MANTLE."

Saturday's two points left a feeling of comfort, prior to to-day's resumption of the Cup hunt.

Dirty players were plentiful, but the referee never had a softer job.

Bowers—30 goals in 29 matches!: even the one and only Bloomer never did anything like this.

The "going" must have reminded Everton's Cook of Irish stew in the matter of consistency.

A straw, they say, tells which way the wind's blowing. What about the straw-plaiters to-day?

Dunn is evidently a bit of a mud-lark: he seemed to enjoy the odd bath last week.

A Dunn hat-trick would be appropriate to-day!

Referees tell us that Dean has all the other centre forwards beaten "to the wide" in his knowledge of the game.

And particularly in regard to combating off'side tactics.

No need to hang up a set of rules in the dressing-room where the Everton captain is concerned.

Johnson is the only player in Division I who has figured at inside left for his club this season in every match.

Geldard's goal was a beautifully got one against the County. He "rammed" it home ever so nicely.

ANFIELD HAPPENINGS

By "RED SHIRT."

Portsmouth 2, Liverpool 1. Hard lines.

Riley's last five League team appearances have all been made away from home.

The South African certainly acted his part well last week.

But what of to-day's Gunnery fusillade? Oh, what a surprise! Scott's return to the Reds' reserves.

Manchester City are due at Anfield next week, and, Cup or no Cup, they will be very anxious for points.

They haven't picked up an away point for three months.

Liverpool's all-Scottish half back line has now another Scot in Archie McPherson all in readiness.

Liverpool (like Burnley) would like Critchley. Nothing doing however.

The Schoolboys were disappointed last week that the Central League game was declared off.

Better luck to-day, we hope.

The Arsenal marksmen have a bad habit of taking the Liverpool defence unawares.

Two former Reds—Tom Bromilow and Hancock—are working hard to set Burnley on their feet again.

When Liverpool visited the City in October it rained "cats and dogs." Ditto at Portsmouth.

Liverpool showed plenty of fight at Portsmouth, but somehow couldn't get in a knock-out blow.

If Liverpool lose again to-day the season looks like finishing up in rather hectic fashion for our men in red.

The bottom dogs are straining at the leash to pull themselves clear.

The two Scots (Bradshaw and Steel) have been among Liverpool's most consistent members this term.

Given fine weather new Cup tie attendance records may be set up on three grounds out of four to-day.

Birmingham may have Joe Bradford ready for duty in the semi-finals—if his club gets through this afternoon.
