

Southend the More United Side

Southend were too 'united' for Luton, thanks to a Mr. Stevens who put the ball past Coen much faster than the 'Bluebird' went last week.

Luton lost another two points at home last Saty.

There was an epidemic of handling & what with this and some of the shooting, a number of players must have thought they were members of the All Blacks.

Just before full time Andrews changed places with Roberts —

—but I think some of the gentlemen in the crowd would have preferred to change the Referee who at one period nearly joined in the game

BUT we must not let this sort of thing go too far or we might have one of the Directors doing the Alex James.

Our cartoonist thought that one of the best features of the game at Luton was the moving of Harold Andrews to inside-left, and expected Referee G. Hamilton-Jones at any moment to hand over the whistle to one of the players so that he could have a real game.
