Arnison May Play At Cardiff

SELECTION of the Reserve team to visit Cardiff City for the last Football Combination match of the season has been delayed until later in the week. Chief doubt is whether Billy Arnison will be able to turn out. The manager is hoping that he will appear, for he moved well in a private trial on Tuesday, and the Town are waiting now to see whether there is any reaction before naming him as a It is likely, too, that Stan Northover, the Royal Navy amateur, will be included in the

Town C.C. Begin Their Fixture List

THE weather has not given a very warm reception to the cricket season which begins on Saturday, and the Town cricketers will be hoping for something more reasonable in the weather

The first team visits Tring Park and, as is usual so early in the season, will not be at full strength, though, for all that they are putting a fully representative side into the field. Among the absentees will be Ken Brazier, still nursing a football injury, Joe Payne, still busy with football, and Peter Clark. Team:

Amateur Rally

The Amateur finished their Spartan League programme on Saturday by sharing the points with the Mariners. They were two goals down at half-time, but fought back strongly, and with the wind in their favour they were able to draw level. The Mariners were the toss. Soon after the resumption, however, NORMAN reduced their arrears, and ten minutes later COOPER obtained the equaliser.
