The "no change" policy of the Town is being continued this week and, to-morrow, when they begin their holiday programme with a home match against Leeds United, they will be fielding the same team for the fourth consecutive time. With two victories immediately behind them, this seems a reasonably justifiable state of affairs, but there is no complacency at Kenilworth-road, where it is realised only too well that the attack is still not operating satisfactorily and that there are serious problems to be faced.

Once again, Manager Dally Not only is he a goal-scorer, Duncan has had very much in the but he is an accomplished, forefront of his mind the spirited bid the Reserves are putting up battle between him and Sid Owen for the Combination title and the two hard away games with Tot-tenham and Chelsea they face io-morrow and Saturday.

Otherwise, he would have been disposed to give at least one of outing in the senior team in one or other of the home games and those who are knocking on the door particularly hard are Peter MacEwan and John Groves.

FORM BOOK DID NOT LIE

There were few shock results in the South Midlands League last Saturday and in most cases the form book did not lie. Shefford Town, leaders of the Premier Division and favourites for the title, were held to a draw by Wootton Blue Cross, but that was not a big enough surprise to qualify for a place in the "shock" category, as Wootton are a powerful side, especially on their own ground, and they are in third place in the table. That Shefford did not falter is a feather in their Kent's Athletic did well to take a point from Potton United and looks now as if the Luton team, after a depressing period in which they could not get away from the bottom rungs of the table, will finish the season near the halfway mark. However, on Monday evening the Luton team was well beaten by Shefford, who showed real championship form to win 4-0. In Division I, Marston Shel-

Bell Is Likely To Be Oliver's Deputy

OPINION in Derby is that in the event of Oliver not being able to turn out, Bell, who was at righthalf last Saturday but moved into
