

GOAL NO. 1: Anguish . . . disbelief . . . horror, they're written all over these Norwich defenders' faces as the header from Allan Brown (he's on the floor, left) zips into the net to put Luton ahead.

GOAL NO. 2: Now it's Ron Baynham's turn to express despair. Has a goalkeeper ever stretched so far in vain? And isn't this Norwich player delighted with Bobby Brennan's hammer-blow equaliser?

● Crossan heads the ball into the Luton net, but the goal is disallowed and Norwich are still one down.

IN THE NET GOES THE EQUALISER

Safe Hands

Kennon again. This time he soars head and shoulders above that dangerous Brown head—and saves.—B3202T.

Bob Morton tries to sneak one with his head, but Kennon is too smart. Safe hands stretch up and close over the ball.—R3204T.

Well, There's Always Tomorrow

ON THE CUP TRAIL

THE goal that kept Luton on the road to Wembley. Bingham takes a free kick and places the ball beautifully into the goalmouth. Allan Brown jumps high, beats two Norwich defenders and hammers the ball into the corner of the net with his head.

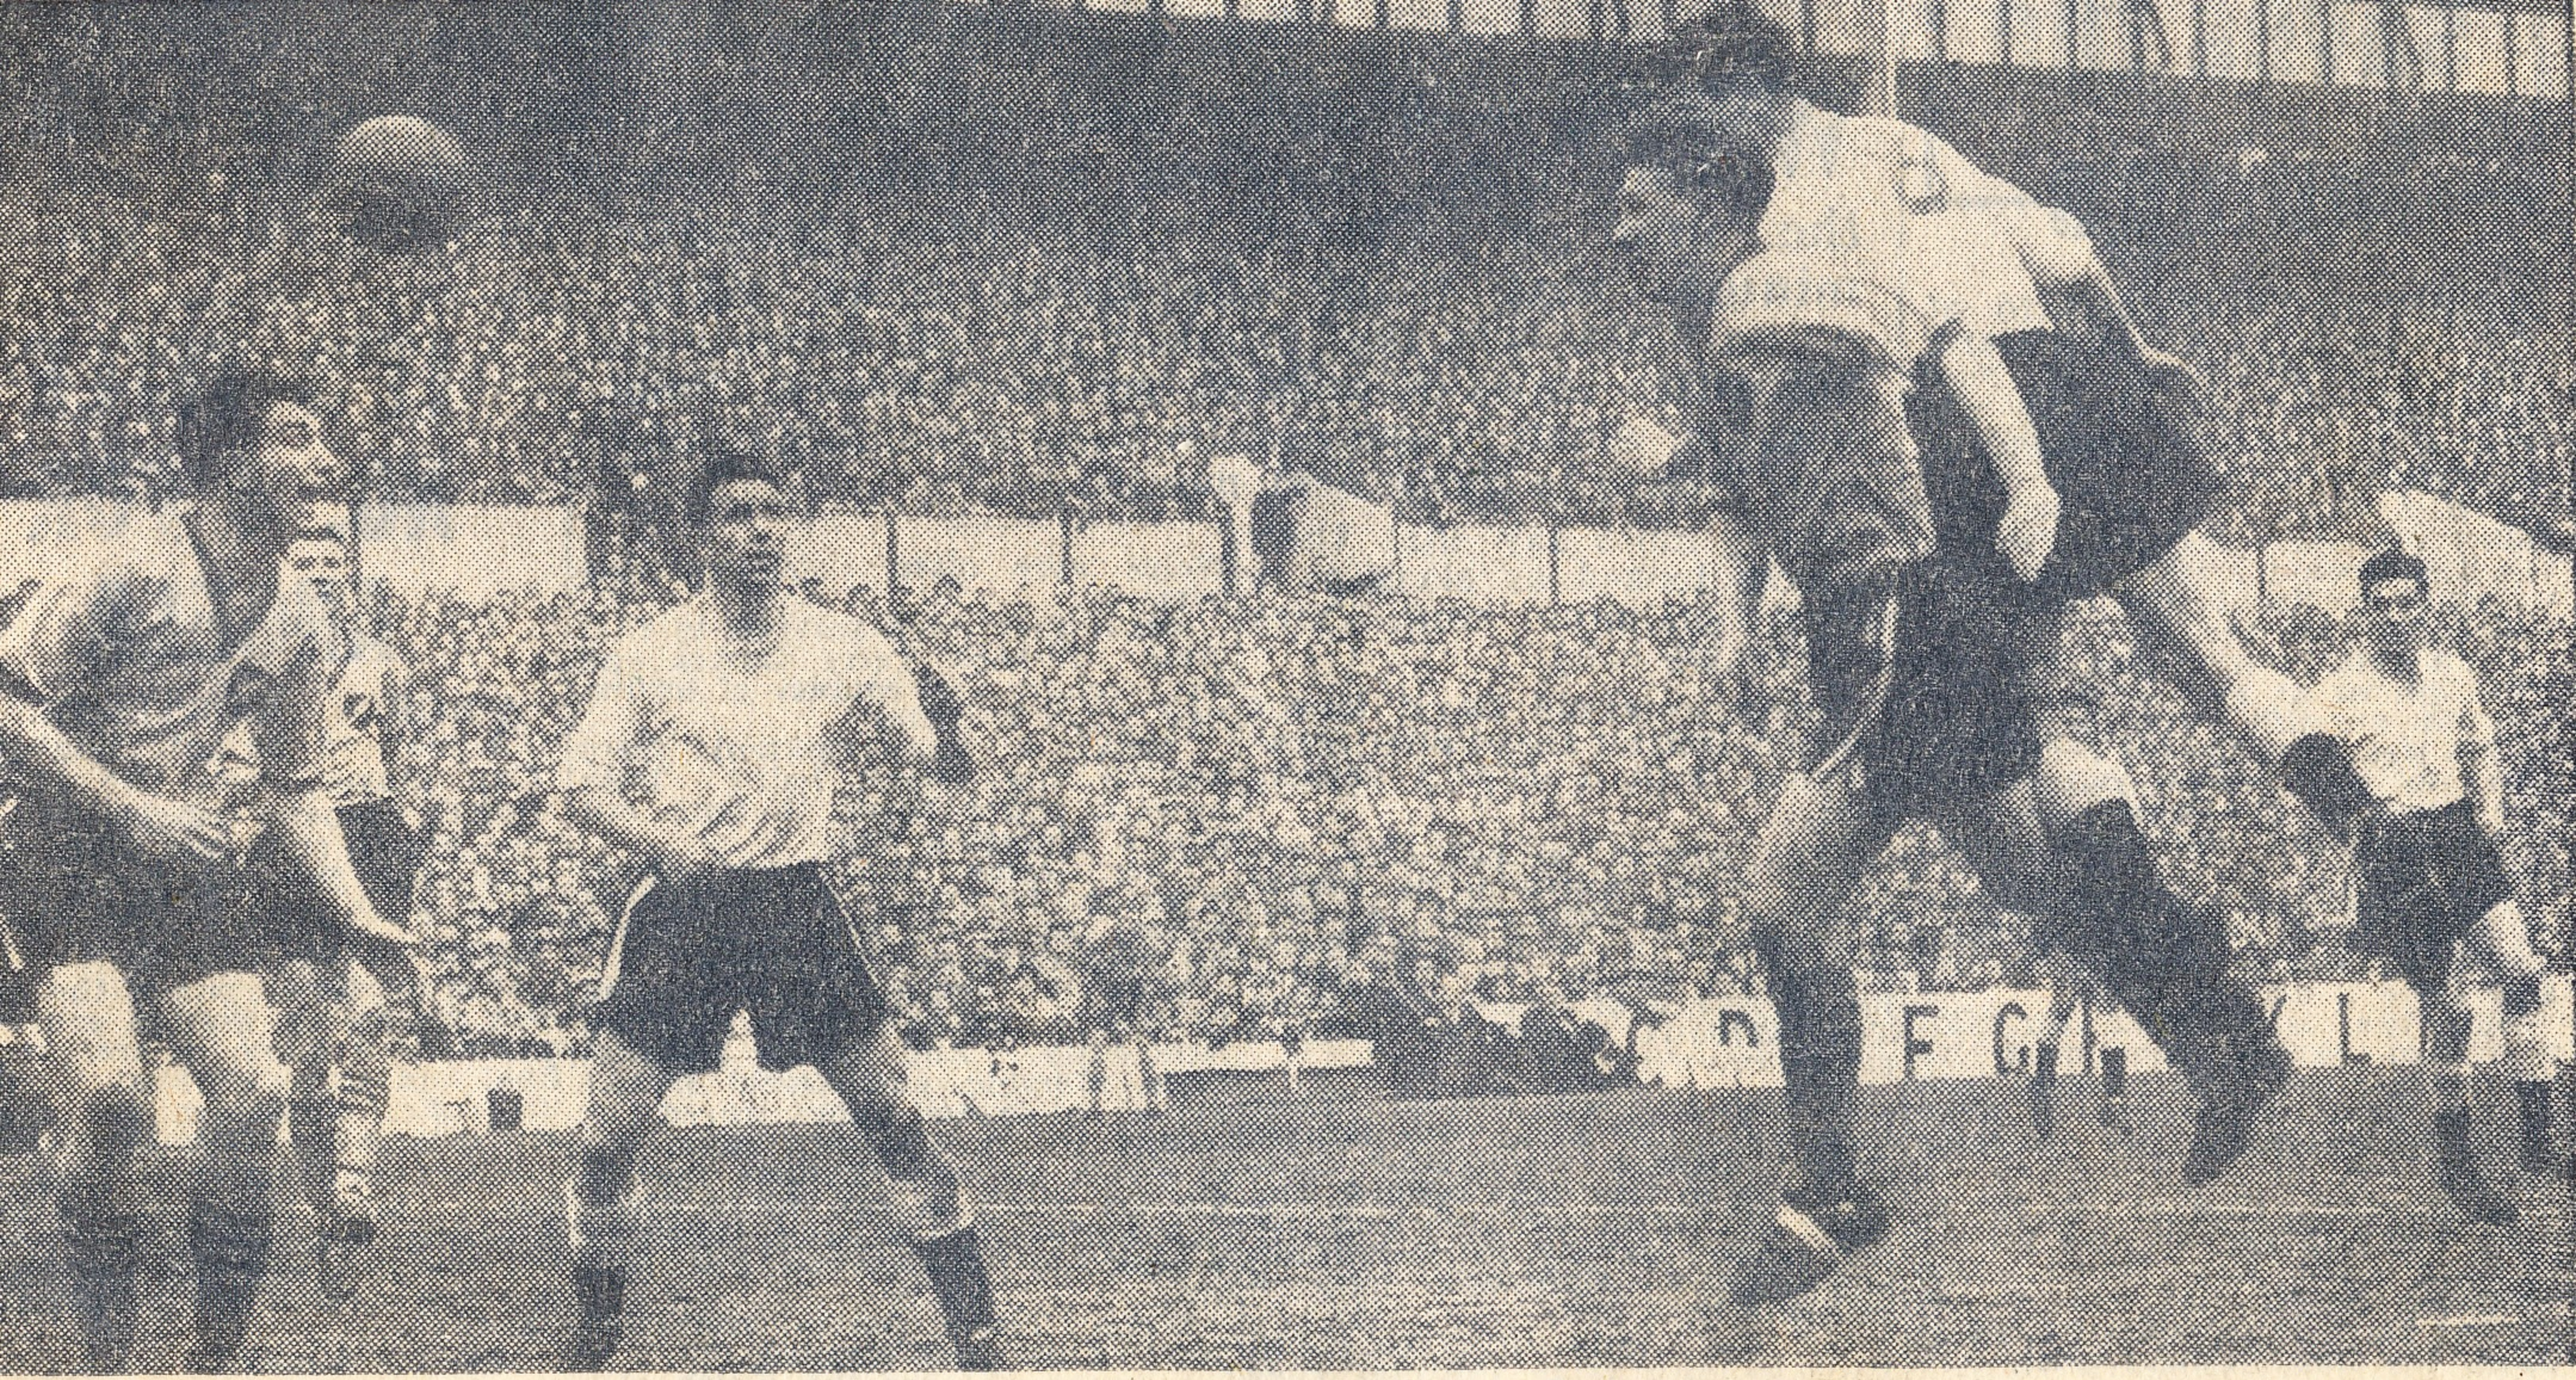

Holding Luton At Bay

One man held the Luton forwards at bay at White Hart-lane on Saturday; one man gave Norwich another chance—Kennon. No wonder the fans nicknamed him "The Cat." In the air, on the ground, either corners, he stopped the lot. Without him, Norwich would have kissed goodbye to that Wembley trip before the final whistle. Time after time he pulled them out of a nasty situation—like this Bingham centre which he deflected from the heads of Brown and Gregory.—R27971.

Gregory Chases Centre

Another tense moment for the Norwich fans as a Bingham centre curls across the goal-mouth, with Kennon, Thurlow and Gregory in full flight. But the fleet-foot "Cat" dived and pulled it to his chest. Saved again.

WAS IT A GOAL?

Listen to the man who knows

WHY did the referee disallow that Norwich "goal" ...? Were Norwich robbed...? The answer is "No." And the man who says so is Errol Crossan who slammed the ball into the net. Says Errol: "Terry Allcock pushed Luton's 'keeper otherwise he wouldn't have dropped the ball to give me my chance."
