

FLEMING'S DISPLAY MAY BRING CAP

LUTON KEEP ON MOVE

Luton 1 Liverpool 0

Liverpool played into the hands of the compact Luton defence by keeping the ball too close and the striking power of Hunt and St. John was absent.

Watched by Scottish team manager Ian McColl, St. John scarcely achieved one memorable thing, nor did the other Scottish candidate Yeats have a happy time.

The most pleasant thing from McColl's point of view was the form of Luton left-winger Fleming who has probably earned himself an Under-23 cap.

After weeks of spiritless displays Luton were a revelation. Full of determination they went in to meet the ball and kept play moving smoothly.

SUPERB FURNELL

Chances missed too

Had their finishing matched their approach work and, had they been opposed to a less brilliant goalkeeper than Furnell they would have won by at least 4-0. Turner and Ashworth were the chief culprits so far as missed chances were concerned and also the main sufferers of the inspired work of Furnell.

The vital goal came in the 13th minute from the head of Pacey after Fleming had placed well one of the many free-kicks that this tense struggle produced.
