

MacDonald is menace

By JAMES KIRK

Hull 0, Luton 2

YORKSHIRE air seems to agree with Luton. They went to Sheffield a fortnight ago and beat Wednesday 5-1. They won at Hull yesterday with such ease that the scoreline did them scant justice.

Luton had the match won by the end of the half an hour and Hull seemed to know it. Givens scored in the 13th minute beating McKechnie to Beardsley's weak back pass.

From that defensive blunder Hull did not recover and it was expected when MacDonald scored in the 29th minute—Givens pushing on another weak defensive pass to him.

Hull never mastered the burly menace of MacDonald. They found him too elusive to mark and even in the second half when he was left to raid on his own he very nearly scored again.

Hull: McKechnie; Beardsley, Devries; Wilkinson, Neill, Simpkin; Holbrook, Houghton, Chilton, Wagstaff, Butler, Sub. Banks.

Luton: Read; Ryan (John), Slough; Hoy, Nicholl, Moore; Ryan (Jim), Court, MacDonald, Keen, Givens.
