

STOCK PLAYS PHILOSOPHER

By TREVOR WILLIAMSON

Norwich ... 1 Luton ... 1

Having seen a point prised off his team by Norwich's sheer determination and effort, Alec Stock, the Luton manager, realistically assessed a seat-gripping match as a good draw away from home.

The fans—it was City's biggest gate of the season and included England team manager Sir Alf Ramsey—rated it good entertainment, with Norwich equalising in the final seconds of injury time.

Anderson, substituting for Briggs, headed the ball towards the corner of the net and Bannister had no option but to fist it on to the bar. Foggo calmly sent the gallant Read the wrong way from the spot.

Norwich had trailed to a Macdonald goal since the 12th minute. The Luton marksman snapped on to a slip by Stringer and cracked home his 19th goal of the season. He also showed just how sharp he can be when straight from a throw-in he cracked a 25-yard left foot drive into the side-netting, but he did waste a couple of other efforts.
