

Foggo gets late penalty

By C. A. COUGHLIN

Norwich 1, Luton 1

LUTON, rather smugly assuming they had won the two points that would return them to the top of Division II for the second time this season, were snattered in having to concede one of them through a penalty scored by Norwich in the last minute or added injury time.

Substitute Anderson, who, in taking over for Briggs for Norwich in the 57th minute brought added fire to the home side, saw a fine header fisted up against the bar by full-back Bannister. It would have been a certain goal and Foggo eagerly made no mistake from the spot.

Luton should kick themselves for tossing away victory. Before the biggest crowd, 17,038, at Carrow Road this season, which included the England team manager, Sir Alf Ramsey, Luton had completely controlled the first half, finding their colleagues with ease in an excellent display of all-round competence that seemed to overawe Norwich.

Their relentless pressure brought their goal from Macdonald in the 13th minute when he seized on a hesitant lapse and misunderstanding between Forbes and Stringer, raced clear inside the box and coolly placed the ball past Keelan.

Macdonald foiled

The league's top marksman with 17 goals, Macdonald was unlucky not to score again in the 25th minute with a fierce left-foot shot on the turn from outside the 18-yard line, which Sir Alf must have relished.

But Luton's cohesion vanished in the second half as Norwich, although well below form, forced themselves persistently into the Luton half. A fine Silvester header and a Foggo drive were well taken by Read, and Paddon with a well flighted free kick in the 67th minute from just outside the box awarded for hands by Slough, brought a diving save from Read at the foot of the post after the ball struck a defender. Stringer, too, hit the angle of the crossbar with a good header.

So finally Norwich deserved their point for their persistence and refusal to accept defeat.

Norwich: Keelan; Payne, Black; Stringer, Forbes, Briggs; Livermore, Silvester, Howard, Paddon, Foggo. Sub.: Anderson.

Luton: Read; Ryan (John), Bannister; Collins, Nicholl, Slough; Ryan (Jimmy), Court, Macdonald, Keen, Givens.

Referee: R. Crabb (Exeter).