

Millwall make

LUTON, attempting soccer's most amazing yo-yo act of falling from the First Division to the Fourth and climbing back again all within 11 years, Jerked the string a bit too tight against Millwall.

Luton suffer

They were well and truly put off their stride by a Millwall side who grew more and more confident and then scrambled an 87th minute equaliser.

The ball was pushed home by right-back Brian Brown after two Luton defenders had failed to clear.

The watching Spurs manager Bill Nicholson cannot be exactly quaking at the thought of meeting Luton in the First Division next season.

This was more Fourth Division quality soccer.

extra-long throw-ins — that Luton really created danger.

Their goal came from a Jimmy Ryan corner—headed by skipper Kean.

But Luton's hurried clearances gave Millwall all sorts of opportunities.

And the Cockney men, getting more cheeky as they fought to save a point, gave Read plenty of work.

After Jimmy Ryan had shown the crowd that Luton were still promotion-minded by delivering two snap-shots, Millwall swung play to the other end and there was Brown to save the day.
