

HASLAM: WHY BUTLIN WENT

LUTON sold striker Barry Butlin to Nottingham Forest for £120,000 before this match began.

Then they went out and banged in three goals against Carlisle, for their first victory in Division One.

Coincidence? Well, not quite, according to Luton boss Barry Haslam.

He explained: "I decided that although Barry had done a darn good job for us, with Anderson, Husband and Alston up front went out and more or less we had more control.

"We used to play to Barry's strength, which was in the air.

"But today the lads played it off the cuff. And it came off."

But Peter Anderson, Butlin's stand-in, celebrated with his first goal of the season and although Carlisle equalised through Laidlaw, their best player, they were outgunned in the second half.
