

TUDOR PILES ON LUTON AGONY

NEWCASTLE left it late to put injury-hit Luton under.

Apart from a magnificent display from Malcolm Macdonald it was not until the last quarter that the "Geordies" found their feet to polish off the First Division strugglers.

In the 76th minute John Tudor swept in to guide the ball home after Macdonald had touched on a Stewart Barrow-clough corner.

Luton, with Brian Chambers a tower of strength, tried hard enough.

But their glaring lack of strength in the tackle suggests a long hard winter ahead.

John Aston did sneak in to drive a 25-yarder against the post, but otherwise Luton suffered

With Macdonald spraying the ball at will—and he and Tudor masters in the air against a wobbly rearguard—we sat back and waited for the avalanche.

But Newcastle did everything but stick the ball in the net.

Luton were content to see the back of many goalmouth scrambles.

On the half-hour it all changed. Lively Chambers worked his way through to hammer a shot that Iam McFaul one-handed away.
