LUTON lacked their usual sparkle, particularly in attack, but they escaped any castigation from Luton manager Harry Haslam for dropping a valuable point.

"They were tired after that mid-week League Cup replay with Manchester City, but we will be having another go at them at Old Trafford on Tuesday."

Luton's slowness showed in front of goal where chances were missed, particularly in the first half when they dominated the midfield through the industry of skipper Alan West and Lil Fuccillo.

He missed a golden opportunity when he mis-hit his shot with only Jeff Wealands to beat before the home crowd gained relief from their restlessness in the 34th minute through a nicely taken goal by Jimmy Husband.

Stooping low to a cross by West, Husband glanced his header down into the far corner.

With Luton pressing strongly in the second half, Hull were alert to their chances and Vince Grimes took advantage of hesitation in the home defence to run through and provide the opening for Bannister to equalise in the 68th minute.

Luton could have saved the day, but for Wealands who pulled off a great save, tipping a fierce right-footer by Steve Buckley over the bar.

He also robbed Ricky Hill of the goal of the season when he turned the Luton midfielder's shot round after he had sped past five Hull players in a dazzling run.
