

Same again for Moore

Leicester 1, Luton 1: By JIM HOOLEY

LIFE must go on, they say, and fears that Luton would fall apart in the wake of David Pleat's departure prove groundless so far.

For John Moore, the anonymous reserve coach given the unenviable task of following a highly - successful manager, it was a huge relief to find business as usual.

They were just as entertaining, skilful and inventive and there was even one of those extra special goals from Brian Stein

When Stein dribbled around three defenders in as many yards to plant the equaliser past goalkeeper Ian Andrews, all the early optimism drained out of an indifferent Leicester side.

The 42-year-old Glaswegian, Moore, who has spent half his life at Luton as player, coach and now manager, had faced this game with great trepidation.

'So much has happened off the field during the summer, I feared it would affect our concentration on it. They proved me wrong,' Moore said.

David is a hard act to follow and I've got to make sure the castle doesn't fall.

At least Moore has something to work on. Bryan Hamilton, who stepped up from the Wigan job to take on Leicester in the summer, has inherited a far inferior product.

LEICESTER: Smith (18 mins.). LUTON: Stein (39).
