

Allsop pulls it out of the Hat for Flynn

DANNY ALLSOPP had a dream home debut with his winning goal to add to the two he scored in their away win at Oxford the previous week.

The 21-year-old Australian striker, on loan from Manchester City, was an instant hit with the home crowd - but bad news for Luton.

Both sides missed chances before Gareth Owen threaded the ball through for Allsopp to smash an angled shot past keeper Ben Roberts.

Another effort from Gareth Owen was saved and Roberts kept out a diving header from Karl Connolly.

Wrexham's Mark McGregor broke clear and should have put Kevin Russell through on goal but the final touch was too strong and the chance was missed.

Luton made their early chances against a rather nervous home side.

Phil Gray was out of luck when he tried a lob from 45 yards with Dearden well out of his area - the ball dropped agonisingly over the bar.

After taking the lead early in the second half Wrexham took care to protect it, though breaking often enough to keep Luton at bay.

With time running out Julian Watts chipped over and Taylor shot straight at the keeper.

Luton's final chance went in the last minute when Stuart Douglas shot wide.
