

Nicholls aiming for a century after Chorley's own-goal gift

BEN CHORLEY'S own-goal plunged MK Dons towards the relegation zone and boosted promoted Luton's hopes of winning the title.

The Dons skipper made a desperate attempt to clear Kevin Foley's 31st-minute cross, but his diving header flew past keeper Matt Baker.

Chorley, under pressure from Chris Coyne, almost scored a second own-goal but this time his header cleared the crossbar.

Luton skipper Kevin Nicholls said: 'We've got one hand on the title and it's down to us not to throw it away now. Our aim is to go up as champions and send out a message to the Championship. Three more wins would give us 100 points and that would be pretty special. But the fans would probably settle for the title.'

Dons boss Danny Wilson said: 'We're still out of the bottom four by the skin of our teeth. We've probably got the hardest run-in of all the teams down there.'

'It's going to be a hard slog but we're capable of doing what we need to do.'
