

Hatters buck the odds

Luton 2 Plymouth 0

LUTON defied their status as the bottom club in the Football League as they knocked Championship Plymouth out of the competition.

Strikes in each half from Rossi Jarvis and substitute Tristan Plummer gave the Hatters a deserved win against an out-of-sorts Pilgrims outfit.

The visitors had to be thankful for a string of saves from goalkeeper Graham Stack earlier on in the game.

But ex-Norwich man Jarvis opened the scoring for the hosts in the 15th minute, blasting home a half-volley from 12 yards after a cutback from former Canaries team-mate Chris Martin.

Luton sealed the win 11 minutes from time when a ricochet off Plymouth substitute Jamie Mackie teed up Asa Hall, whose shot was parried by Stack into the path of Plummer to score.
